ble, and I have so directed the Secretary of Defense. He has already taken steps to have 73 domestic and foreign installations discontinued as excess to our needs now and at any time in the future; and studies are continuing now to identify additional facilities which are surplus to our requirements:

I am well aware that in many cases these actions will cause hardships to the communities and individuals involved. We cannot permit these actions to be deferred; but the Government will make every practicable effort to alleviate these hardships, and I have directed the Secretary of Defense to take every possible step to ease the difficulties for those displaced. But it is difficult, with so many defense and other budgetary demands, to justify support of military installations, with high operating and payroll costs and property values; which are no longer required for the defense of the Nation. The closing of excess installations overseas will in many cases help alleviate our balance-of-payments deficit.

No net savings are expected to be realtzed in 1962 from these inactivations because of the added costs involved in closing, and no reductions in the 1962 budget are proposed on that account. Substantial savings, approximately $220 million per year, will be realized, however, in subsequent years.

II am also proposing that $320 million of the obligational authority required be provided by transfer from the current balances of working capital funds in the Defense Department.)

CONCLUSION ,

Our military position today is strong. But positive action must be taken now if we are to have the kind of forces we will need for our security in the future. Our preparation against danger is our hope of safety. The changes in the defense program which I have recommended will greatly enhance the security of this Nation in the perilous years which lie ahead. It is not pleasant to request additional funds at this time for national security. Our interest, as I have emphasized, lies in peaceful solutions, in reducing tension, in settling disputes at the conference table and not on the battlefield. I am hopeful that these policies will help secure these ends. commend them to the Congress and to the Nation.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Mr. YOUNG of North Dakota. President, until recently there has been little publicity on the John Birch Boclety, a comparatively new and secret organization. I have received many communications requesting information. and some even suggest an investigation by Congress. The proposals for investi-gations come from both those opposed to the John Birch Society and from society members themselves, such as J. Blaine Miller, the recognized head of the John Birch Society in North Dakota,
